PRICE FIVE CENTS

Massachusetts Bay Colony Tercentenary Celebration

Swimming Pool Added to Skinner Gymnasium

Ground was broken last week for a new swimming pool at the Northfield Seminary near the Skinner gymnasium on the campus. This valuable addition was made possible through the gift of $8,000 of Miss Jessie Munger of Plainfield, N. J., in memory of her brother, Henry C. Munger of Plainfield, who for a long time was interested in the Northfield Schools.

Ralph Harrington Done, architect-engineer of Boston, a graduate of Mt. Hermon, is the architect. It will be a fully equipped modern pool, 75 feet by 25 feet, having a seating capacity of 200 people. It is expected to be ready for the opening of school in the fall.

Personal Mention

George Moody is back from California, where he has been making his home for several years. His old friends are glad to see him back in his old town.

Mrs. William Kevan and two children, who have been visiting Miss Mildred Orr for several days, left for her home in Pittsburgh, Va., Wednesday. Many outings and social gatherings made her visit a round of enjoyable events. Mrs. Kevan left many warm friends in Northfield, who will be glad to welcome her and her two charming children upon her next visit.

Mrs. Starr and daughter, Nellie, of Uncaville, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Colton of East Northfield.

Warren Ackerman and two daughters of Mawwaw, N. Y., motored up to spend the week-end with Mrs. Ackerman, who has been visiting their son, Kenneth, and attending the Conference. Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Nyack were also of the party.

Rev. Fred Van Sickle, district elder of the N. E. Conference, will preach Friday and Saturday evenings at 7.30, also Sunday at 10.30 a. m. and 7.30 p. m., at the Free Methodist services in Grange hall. There will be special singing, and everyone is welcome.

Lake Pleasant

At a recent meeting held by the directors of the New England Spiritual Camp Meeting Association, Mrs. Helen R. Turney was elected president of the association, to fill the unexpired term of the late Rev. Otto von Bourg.

The music of the Goodnow Singing Orchestra of Orange is attracting a capacity attendance to the Saturday evening dances which are held in the Temple. Next week the Wednesday evening dances will commence and during the month of August dances will be held each week on Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Camp meeting opens Sunday, with Rev. Frederick A. Wiggins as the speaker and message bearer of the day. Dr. Wiggins will lecture and give messages at 10.30 a. m. and 2.30 p. m., and will hold a message service in the evening. He is one of the most noted mediums in the country and always draws large audiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Annie H. Parker will lecture and give messages next week on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, and Thursday will be observed as Massachusetts State Day with three services and numerous speakers and psychics participating.

Under the management of the association, with Mrs. Helen R. Turney in charge, the Lake Pleasant hotel is gaining a splendid reputation for its excellent table, splendid service and reasonable rates, and reservations for rooms and board bid fair to test the capacity of the house and dining room. The special Sunday dinners are a popular feature.

The coming of one of the most remarkable psychics in the world, Rev. Theodore Russell of Buffalo, who will begin a week's engagement here on Aug. 8, is anticipated with interest and pleasure by the spiritualists of New England, as this is Mr. Russell's first appearance in this section of the country, with the single exception of the sensation his splendid demonstration created at the Statler hotel last October in Boston while in attendance at the National Convention of Spiritualists.

With most of the cottages occupied and numerous campers arriving every day, the camp meeting next month bids fair to be a most successful convocation.

C. H. Daniels Flies to Montreal

C. H. Daniels of the Greenfield Airport flew to Montreal on the 24th, with two passengers, making the trip in 2 hours and 30 minutes. Thirteen students are enrolled in the ground school established at the airport, five for flying and ground work and the balance for ground work only. 10.45 a. m.—Morning service. 7.00 p. m.—Evening service.

Northfield in Gala Attire for Tercentenary Celebration

The opening day of the celebration for which the various committees have been working so diligently for many weeks found bright skies and a cool breeze to make possible the full enjoyment of the festivities and services planned for the towns people and visitors. The bright colors of the decorations, set off by the luxuriant verdure, made Main street even more attractive than usual and shed abroad a spirit of welcome.

The following is the programme for the three days of the Tercentenary: Wednesday, July 30—Visitation of Colonial homes; Old-Time Costume ball; Indian and Antique Exhibition.

Thursday, July 31—Tours of Historic and Scenic Places; Old Folks Concert. Friday, August 1—Greenfield Military Band throughout the day; Parade of 300 Years of Northfield History and Progress, Main street, 10 a. m.

Old Home and Family Reunions, Picnic Lunch with Informal Addresses at Birnam House at 12 noon; Outdoor Rally at Birnam House at 2.30; Historical Oration by Congressman Allen T. Treadway of Massachusetts; Service of Thanksgiving in Auditorium at 8.30 p. m.; Oration by Rev. Samuel A. Eliot of Boston; Chorus.

The following is a resume of the events for Wednesday: The exercises started with the opening of the Colonial homes, many still occupied by descendants of the original families, for the inspection of visitors.

The following homes were thrown open: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gilbert, Northfield Farms, Colonial house, antiques, four generations, Newell post and mahogany stair rail, blocked wall paper, Indian relics; Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hammond, Northfield Farms, old stage coach inn, overhead beams, paneling, stenciling done by imprisoned soldier; Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Alexander, Northfield Farms, Colonial house, 1774, fifth generation, furniture, wrought iron nails, wooden pins; the old James house, 1763, paneling, corner cupboard; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Morgan, Main street, Colonial house, antiques; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Field, Main street, Colonial house, 1784, furniture and wall paper, etc.; Mrs. Thomas A. Dollard, Main street, paneling, fireplaces; Mr. and Mrs. John Callaghan, Main street, Captain Benjamin Wright house, beams; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sauter, Main street, the old Minot Colonial house; Mrs. M. E. Haven, Main street, paneled chamber, antiques; Alexander Memorial hall, Main street; Mrs. Newton Alexander, hostess, Colonial handiwork, etc.; Mrs. George Forman, Main street, Colonial architecture and exhibits; Dickinson hall, Main street, Mrs. C. C. Stockbridge and Mrs. E. F. Howard, hostesses, Indian and antique exhibits, Colonial heirlooms and relics; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Smith, 173 Main street, Colonial wall paper and furnishings; Alexander homestead, Main street, Mrs. C. C. Stearns, hostess, Colonial house, 1776, paneling, etc.; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Colton, 181 Main street, early brick building, site of fort, old kitchen, antiques; D. L. Moody Birthplace, Highland avenue and Moody street, Mrs. A. G. Moody, hostess, Colonial house, wall etching, museum of souvenirs and relics; Miss Mason and Miss Hill, Highland avenue, Colonial furniture, handloom products; E. Belding, West Northfield, century-old French wall paper, colonial house and relics.

In the evening at 8.30 occurred the Old Time Costume ball, which brought out many of the treasured costumes of the belles and beaux of years gone by. The music was furnished by the eight of Harry Putnam's old fiddlers, and all the old-time dances again found a place on the program. Mr. and Mrs. George Kidder led the Grand March and Circle. The minuet was danced by the Misses Helen Vorce, Vera Wright, Polly Parker, Gladys Miller, and Messrs. Ray Thompson, Seth Field, Edward Morgan and Robert Porter, with all the grace and rhythm of old Colonial days.

The following is the list of dances: 1, Grand March and Circle; 2, Waltz; 3, Portland Fancy; 4, Quadrille; 5, Two Step; 6, Exhibition Dance; "Lady of the Lake"; 7, Hull's Victory; 8, Quadrille; 9, Money Musk; 10, Waltz; 11, Exhibition Dance, Minuet; 12, Virginia Reel; 13, Quadrille; 14, Lady Walpole's Reel; 15, Chorus Jig; 16, Good Night Waltz.

It is estimated that about 700 were present and it was pronounced the most colorful and picturesque gathering ever held in Northfield.

On Thursday evening the Old Folks Concert at the Auditorium was, as in past years, a great success and largely attended. The audience was received at the doors by a committee of ladies in the costumes of early days. The chorus and artists were in costume and everything that could be done to carry the mind back to olden times was worked out in detail. Arthur Judson Phillips of New York was conductor and Wilfred Glenn, basso, was soloist. Frederick Shattuck, formerly of Greenfield, and our own Leon Dummell were accompanists, together with Joe Field's orchestra. The program was both interesting and amusing and all pieces were well rendered.

The following is a list of selections: Anthem, "Strike Ye Symbal," choir; Mrs. Webster and Dr. Wright, soloists; "Brunette," 17th Century, choir; Selections, Wilfred Glenn, Selection, "How Merrille We Live," Ladies' chorus. Sacred selection, "Mithem."

One of the greatest events in the history of this Country and equal in importance with the Declaration of Independence was the arrival of Governor John Winthrop, June 12th, 1630, with the Charter granted by King Charles I of England, entitled "The Governor and Company of Massachusetts Bay in New England," constituting it a body politic.

JOHN WINTHROP

John Winthrop, first Governor of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and for nineteen years its guide and leader. He set sail from Cowes, Isle of Wight, March 30th, 1630, bringing the precious Charter. With him came his three younger sons, Isaac Johnson and wife, Lady Arbella, Deputy Gov. Thomas Dudley, Sir Richard Saltonstall, William Coddington, Rev. George Phillips and other English gentlemen, his wife and the remaining children coming later. They arrived at Salem on June 12th, 1630. He died March 26th, 1649, and is buried in what is now known as King's Chapel Burying Ground in Boston.

THE GOOD SHIP ARBELLA
A vessel of 350 tons burden, formerly the British Frigate Tiger of 23 guns, rechristened ARBELLA in honor of Mrs. Isaac Johnson.

choir. Sacred Selection, "Songs of Angels, chorus. Soprano solo, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," Miss Pearson. Selection, "Ye Yankee Sleighride," Phil Porter. Selection, "Turkey in the Shray," Male chorus. Intermission. Selection, "Come Unto These Yellow Sands," Mixed chorus. Chorus, "Flower Gentle, Sweet Afton," Choir. Selection, "Cousin Jedediah, choir, Fred C. Adams, soloist. Chorus, "Anvil Chorus," choir and band. Selection, "Auld Lang Syne," audience and choir.

Mrs. John Kennedy Passes Away

The flags at the East Northfield Seminary are at half mast these days in memory of Mrs. John Kennedy of New York City, who died last Thursday evening at Bar Harbor at the age of 96 years.

For many years she had been a liberal donor to the Northfield Schools. Kenardon hall, the administration building for the schools, was a gift of hers and named in honor of her summer home.

Eliot Speer, president of the Northfield Schools, and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Moody attended the funeral on Monday. Dr. Robert E. Speer, vice-president of the Board of Trustees of The Northfield Schools will speak.

Mrs. C. Baxter Passes Away

Mrs. C. E. Baxter passed away Tuesday morning quite suddenly from a heart attack from which she has been suffering for a number of years. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. H. M. Haskell and Mrs. Broadbent of Tolland, Conn; two sons, John Scoville of New Haven and C. E. Baxter of New York; and a brother, Charles E. Hadsell of Springfield. The funeral services will be held tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, and interment will be at Adhley Falls, Mass.

Mrs. Baxter was very active in all good works while her health permitted and was a member of the Women's Relief Corps, Order of Eastern Star and Northfield Grange.

Conference of Religious Education Closes its 27th Session

Rev. Dwight Bradley, pastor of the First Church of Newton, continued his morning talks to the School of Religious Education Thursday on the use of faith in prayer, saying that faith should follow prayer and not precede it. Faith should not be blind. Just as a stranger gradually becomes a friend to be trusted, so should faith follow experience in the religious life.

In the afternoon and early evening a mock circus, with a parade of horrors, a side-show and a big ring was enjoyed by everybody present. Several of the Conference members went over to the Northfield hotel later in the evening to enjoy the musical entertainment given by Miss Marie Houston of New York. In the costume of various nations, such as Italy, France, Spain, Ireland and the American Indians, she sang a number of songs in the native language, some of which were operatic and others folk songs. A large and enthusiastic audience listened with great interest and appreciation to every number.

Rev. Dwight Bradley spoke at the morning service in Sage chapel at East Northfield Friday at the Conference of Religious Education about being rooted and grounded in prayer. He touched upon the metaphor used, saying that the life of the tree depended upon the life of the earth. Life will develop in an environment of love. "We touch the love of God in our human relationships, the speaker said.

He quoted William Lyon Phelps of Yale in stating that the best illustration of love does not come during courtship or in the flush of early married life, but later on when the wife exclaims, "John, don't forget your rubers." There is a friendship, a love that is assumed. These earthly friendships are a part of the greater love, the divine.

In the afternoon a swimming meet was held at Wanamaker pond. In Sage chapel in the evening Rev. Roy L. Minich, pastor of the First Congregational church of Malden, spoke about the folklore and superstitions of the Pennsylvania Dutch. Mr. Minich is a descendant of these people and has lived most of his life among them. Hence his anecdotes and descriptions were very vivid.

At the Round Top service Dr. Edward Wilder, M. D., missionary at Madura hospital, Madura, India, under the American Board, spoke about his work in India. He said that India was facing a situation unparalleled in her history. An awakening throughout the land from the Brahmins down, under the spiritual and active leadership of Gandhi, is taking place, and is placing India on an entirely new basis. All this change means a greater need for guidance such as the Bible and followers of Christ can give.

A definite and serious experience in life ought to precede any explanation in the physical world. In the opinion of Rev. Dwight Bradley, who spoke on Saturday at the Conference of Religious Education meeting, a broad understanding of the meaning of the personal life is essential to the comprehension of the natural world about us, the speaker said. A shallow and cynical interpretation of human life will be reflected in the meaning of the surrounding universe.

Rev. Mr. Bradley pointed out Albert Einstein and Robert Milliken as outstanding examples of men who, being great physicists, are also profound believers in religion. Their faith in religious philosophy is simple and sure. It can be said that they are deeply rooted in a love of God and in a supreme belief that there is an omniscient power ruling over all. Although we know more than our forebears about science, we have not surpassed them in prayer, devotion, and love of God. We ought to trust science that we may better understand the greatness of God.

In the afternoon the members of the Conference took a trip to Mount Hermon School for Boys, founded by D. L. Moody in 1881. Supper was served there, after which the return was made in busses. In the evening, at Sage chapel, a musical was held, featuring Miss Elsie Snead, violinist, and Miss Ruth Ufford, pianist. Miss Friswell of Needham sang "Jenny Lind's Version of the Norwegian Echo Song" and a group of Spring songs. She also sang Gounod's "Ave Maria," accompanied by the piano and organ. "The Heavens Are Telling," by Hayden, and Rubenstein's "Melody in F" were played on the piano and organ. After the concert a bonfire and weenie toast were enjoyed.

We become confused in our religious thinking because we are so sophisticated, in the opinion of Rev. Dwight Bradley, pastor of the First Church of Newton, in speaking to the Northfield Conference of Religious Education Sunday. He said that in our attempts to find God we fly to intellectual pursuits and thus become involved in metaphysical mazes instead of recognizing Him in the simple experiences of life.

General Conference, Christian Workers will Commence Next Tuesday

The General Conference for Christian Workers will convene at East Northfield on August 2 and continue until the 18th under the direction of W. R. Moody, son of the evangelist, D. L. Moody. Upwards of 2,000 people are expected to attend. It was at Northfield that the idea of interdenominational Christian conferences was first established in America—the outgrowth of small groups of Christians gathered by D. L. Moody in his home during his brief summer vacation periods, 1876-1880, for Bible study, fellowship and the deepening of the spiritual life. The Christian Workers' Conference, the outgrowth of these small gatherings, is one of the most permanent and beneficial results Mr. Moody achieved for the Christian church.

D. L. Moody, the evangelist, is perhaps not so well known as an educator, and yet he had the Northfield Schools, which he founded, in mind when he said o the boys at Mount Hermon that when "you read in the newspapers that D. L. Moody is dead, don't you believe it. He is more alive than ever." Both Mount Hermon, a school for boys, with a registration of 550, and the Northfield Seminary for girls, having 600, are a living monument to D. L. Moody, the educator. Deprived of educational privileges in his youth, he saw the need of a school where boys and girls of earnest purpose and limited means, many of whom had not had early advantages, might secure an education at moderate expense.

In 1931 Mount Hermon celebrates its half-century of service to young men and boys, 14,000 of them, who have come from every State in the Union and practically every nation on the globe. Two years ago Northfield Seminary enjoyed its 50th anniversary. It has an equally enviable record. The aim is to develop Christian character and public service. It is that impress which D. L. Moody has left so indelibly upon the tradition of the schools, and which makes them unique among the secondary schools of the nation.

Mr. Moody was the first to conceive the plan of utilizing school and college buildings during the summer months to contribute to the spiritual and religious life of the people. In 1880 he issued a call to Christian workers to assemble at Northfield, to which there responded 300 "devout men and women out of every nation under heaven." There are still living those who recall these early days of humble beginnings but earnest spirit.

For half a century these gatherings have been held in the first weeks in August, the only exceptions being 1882 and 1884, when D. L. Moody was abroad. Speakers are invited without regard to denominational affiliation but for their oyalty to evangelical faith. Some of the outstanding platform speakers have been Dr. A. J. Gordon, Professor Henry Drummond, Dr. A. T. Pierson, Dr. F. B. Meyer and Dr. G. Campbell Morgan. Originally planned to meet the needs of all phases of Christian work, the General Conference in later years has come to place special emphasis upon the work and problems of ministers. As the fundamental questions of life do not change from generation to generation, the aim of the Conference has not changed. It seeks to bring men and women nearer to God, to know Jesus Christ and understand His teachings and to enhance the church's vision of service.

As in former years, it is planned to have one or more special services for ministers only in Sage chapel in the morning. More than 100 ministers are in attendance at the Conference, coming from the far South, well beyond the Mississippi. While that meeting is going on in Sage chapel, a praise service is held in the Auditorium, followed later by one or more platform addresses. The afternoons are devoted to rest, recreation on the golf course, the tennis courts, swimming at Wanamaker, hiking over the mountains or driving to the many interesting places in and surrounding Northfield. Services are again held in the evening at Round Top, the knoll where D. L. Moody and his wife lie buried, and in the Auditorium. A feature of this year will be the Missionary Day, which will likely be held on Aug. 11, at which Professor Harvey, Mrs. Peabody and other prominent heralds of the Cross from foreign fields will speak.

Among the speakers this year several are familiar to Northfield audiences. Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, D. D., is recognized as an authority on homiletics. He has an insight into the Scriptures and a familiarity with their contents that have raised him to a position of leadership among Bible teachers and preachers. A personal friend of D. L. Moody, Dr. Morgan has been intimately connected with the General Conference since 1896. His British pastorates included the Buckingham Gate Congregational church, London, where he ministered for 14 years. During the last year he has been pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, which has not, however, prevented his lectures.

General Conference

turing in other places. He has written more than 60 works. Dr. Morgan will be present at the second week of the Conference.

Rev. John A. Hutton, D. D., editor of "The British Weekly," probably the most influential religious journal in the world, has spoken many times at Northfield. He returns after an absence of several years. From the Bellhaven Free Presbyterian church of Glasgow, Scotland, he was called to Westminster Chapel, Buckingham Gate, London. He brings to the platform a wide erudition, an up-to-date familiarity with religious affairs, and an earnest evangelism. He has written more than a score of books on matters of faith and the authority of Jesus. Both Dr. Hutton and Rev. James Reid will be present throughout the entire Conference.

Another favorite speaker at Northfield is the Rev. James Reid, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Eastbourne, England. He was educated at Edinburgh University and at New College. Beginning his ministry at Oban, he later took the pastorate at Sherwood church, Paisley. His spiritual insight of the Scriptures is shown in his ministry and his many written books.

Rev. J. Stuart Holden, D. D., vicar of St. Paul's, Portman Square, London, has made his influence felt not only in his own country but in this land, where he has been a frequent visitor during the last 25 years. Dr. Holden has for many years been a member of the board of trustees and chairman of the Keswick Convention in England. He will remain at the Conference during the first week.

The Rev. George A. Buttrick, D. D., minister of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church of New York city, will again be present at Northfield. A man of great spiritual force and keen insight, he was recently chosen to deliver the Lyman Beecher lectures on preaching for Yale in 1931. His book, "The Parable of Jesus," published in May, 1928, was selected that month at the first choice of the Religious Book club. He will speak the second week.

A newcomer to Northfield will be the Rev. Howard Partington of the Addison Street Congregational church of Nottingham, England. He has been selected this year to speak in America by the committee on exchange of preachers and speakers between the churches of America, Great Britain and France. Dr. Sidney Berry, secretary of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, said, "He is one of the finest ministers we have. He has the root of the matter in him, and I could not think of any one better to act as a kind of link between the churches here and those across the water." To those who have been to Northfield in previous years, it will be of interest to know that for six years Dr. Partington was a colleague of Dr. J. D. Jones of Bournemouth, England, who for many years came to this Conference. Dr. Partington will be present the first week.

President Paul Moody of Middlebury College, son of the evangelist, D. L. Moody, will be present during the entire conference and will speak.

Rev. Robert Stewart, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Belvidere, N. J., will assist the chairman, W. R. Moody, at the presiding officer. Both Paul Moody and Mr. Stewart are well known to Northfield.

Professor Edwin D. Harvey, for many years with Yale-in-China and now at Dartmouth College, will address the Conference on conditions in China. He is a graduate of Mount Hermon School, and is a newcomer to the Conference.

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, internationally known for her leadership in world missions and actively engaged in national affairs, will take part in the program. Just at present Mrs. Peabody, as chairman of the Women's National Committee on Law Enforcement, is particularly busy arousing the women of the nation to prevent the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The leader for the young people's services will be the Rev. Harry Cotton, minister of the Broad Street Presbyterian church of Columbus, Ohio. He is new to Northfield and comes with high hopes because of his experience in assisting modern youth in meeting the challenging problems of Christian faith.

Rev. Homer Hammon of Chicago, who will lead the singing, and Rev. Melvin Trotter of the City Mission, Grand Rapids, Mich., needs no introduction at Northfield, where each fills a uniquely inspiring part in the program. Full of enthusiasm and rich in Christian experience, both Mr. Hammon and Mr. Trotter carry an influence and a message of Christ-like living that have won many for Christ at Northfield as well as elsewhere.

Religious Conference

Dr. Bradley Hits Sophistication

Dr. Bradley used the story of the prodigal son to illustrate universal truths about the nature of God in relation to us. When the son determined to leave home, his choice was not interfered with any more than the free choices that we make. God is still a god of love even though eating hushies is a result of our choice. That god is sentimental, sugary and exotic, one who is fickle and arbitrary, not one to abide by laws already laid down, is false. There is an inexorable-ness about God that must be recognized.

When, however, the prodigal son resolves to return to his father, at that moment we see the generous and loving heart of the father full of mercy and grace. God's love can absorb the inexcusable and put love, and hope, and courage in the heart of the wayward one. The difficulty with people today lies in their attitude on their way back.

The fact that the father is glad to welcome back the lost one lies at the heart of the Christian faith. The emphasis of Jesus was not on the inexcusable-ness of God, but on his bounteous love. The world today needs the open loving arms of the father in its attitude.

At the Round Top service, Rev. Stanley Commings, pastor of the Second Congregational church of Bennington, Vt., spoke on the call for service in New England. Graduation exercises for the School of Religious Education took place last Wednesday.

The last chapel service before the graduation exercises for the Northfield School of Religious Education took place last Tuesday, when the Rev. Dwight Bradley of Newton spoke about the fullness of God. He said that there was no short cut to fullness of God. It is necessary to begin humbly in prayer, to continue earnestly and faithfully in meditation, and above all, to put into practice the inspiration and motives that have been gained.

It is folly to think that by means of some unusual emotional experience alone a permanent level of holiness and efficiency can be reached, according to the speaker. Religion is a motion plus a technique. Jesus did not live upon the mountain tops, but walked the dusty roads. He was not looking for big things to do, but did things in a big way. Emotion in religion is valuable only in so far as it motivates us to apply our ideas in a practical constructive way in life, he added.

In the afternoon the board of management in the conference held its annual meeting in Stote hall. The officers are the Hon. Robert Chapin Parker of Westfield, chairman; Carl A. Hempel of Lynn, vice-chairman; and Bryant Nichols of Auburndale, secretary and treasurer.

In the evening there was a young people's communion and candle-light service in Sage chapel. Rev. Dwight Bradley was in charge of the meeting and was assisted by the members of the faculty, who served as deacons. Wednesday morning there were only a few classes held, the remainder of the forenoon being devoted to examinations.

The closing assembly and graduation exercises of the Northfield School of Religious Education were held Wednesday in Sage chapel. 40 Northfield diplomas and two international diplomas being awarded. Mrs. Annie C. Winter of Mahwah, N. J., and Miss Florence L. Moore of Hudson, N. Y., received the Standard National diplomas. These are given under the authority of the International Council of Religious Education, of which Dr. Hugh McGill of Chicago is the head.

Dr. Herbert W. Gates of Boston, Dean of the Conference, gave an address of Mutual Education, in which he stressed the need of adult education in religion, as well as in other subjects, and also the opportunities of mutual sharing in ideas and experience between the youth and the older generation. The church is a co-operative movement, he added.

Interesting statistical data that has been compiled indicates that 528 persons registered for the classes, of which number 263 were new to Northfield this year. Ten States were represented, those coming from Massachusetts for outnumbering the other States. There were 12 denominations represented, the Congregationalists being in the majority. Two hundred and ninety were attending the school because they were already officers in their home church organizations. The annual meeting of the board of managers was held Tuesday, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, the Hon. Robert C. Parker of Westfield; vice-chairman, Carl A. Hempel, of Lynn; Dean, Dr. Herbert W. Gates of Boston; assistant Dean, Rev. Ivan S. Nowlan of Boston; registrar and clerk, Bryant Nichols of Boston; treasurer, Prof. L. A. Onley of Lowell; assistant treasurer, Edith M. Bonke of Boston; auditor, Rev. C. P. MacGregor of Manchester, N. H.

The men's singles of the tennis tournament was won by Ray Munson of Providence, and the women's singles by Mabel Tompkins of Winchester.

In the afternoon a number went over to the Birnam Chateau to listen to a talk on Bacon as Shakespeare, given by a very enthusiastic advocate of Bacon, Frederick Tappan Ranney of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Ranney are occupying a suite at the Chateau for the summer. This was the third lecture given on Shakespeare by Mr. Ranney to those who are living at the Northfield.

In addition to the lecture, Dr. H. B. Kirkland, minister of the 155 Street Presbyterian Church, New York city, read some poems that he has written while staying in Northfield. With his family he also is occupying a suite at the Chateau. His poems were called, "The Mist," "Enduring Hills," "Masquerade," "The Northfield" and "The Chateau."

The English are the world's greatest tea drinkers. The Americans drink the most coffee.

Blood-letting used to be a part of the barber's duties. So the red stripes on his pole symbolize a bandage wound around the arm of a patient on whom he was operating.

Baseball Notes

Northfield A. A. easily defeated Bernardston, 11 to 1, Wednesday, July 23. The home team played almost errorless ball and collected 15 hits, many of them for extra bases, which was quite in contrast to the work of the Bernardston team. Shearer holding them to four hits. Northfield completed four double plays. The score:

Northfield received the worst defeat in the memory of most fans Tuesday night from the Church Manufacturing Company of Brattleboro, the score being 18 to 3. The Church bats swung to the tune of five triples, four doubles and 10 singles. These, with five errors and six bases on balls, did the damage. But cheer up! "Because her conversation sometimes extends indefinitely."

Sweet City Visitor: "What are you running that steam roller over this field for?"

Farmer: "I'm going to raise a crop of potatoes this fall."

"Lady: 'Aren't you the same man I gave some biscuits to last week?'"

Tramp: "No, mum, and the doctor says I never will be again."

We would give you some more jokes, but what's the use? You would only laugh at them?"

Hay Fever

Approximately 5,000,000 people, or five per cent of the American population, suffer from either asthma or hay fever, or both, it is estimated. Both are caused by non-fatal disease, but cause much suffering and depression to victims, it was pointed out.

Fashions for the
Smart Woman

A DISTINCTIVE YOKE

For all the ordinary summer daytime occasions nothing is in better taste than a cool-looking, simply tailored frock with an individual touch somewhere to distinguish it. The frock above, with its cut-out yoke, brief kimono sleeves, and circular skirt sections, inserted in a gracefully curving line below the hips, is extremely smart. It is distinguished because it strains after no effect, and it will always look marvelously cool. Sheer and heavy linen, lawn, flat crepe or shantung would all be suitable, preferably in the new pastel shades, which have a fresh and feminine quality.

Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 5312.
Sizes 14 to 42, 35 cents.

Testing Cattle for Bovine Tuberculosis

Testing of Massachusetts cattle for bovine tuberculosis will set a new record in July, according to the estimates of Evan F. Richardson, director of the Division of Animal Industry, who has the eradication work in his charge. The testing program has been slowed up somewhat in the past few months, but now that the Federal reimbursement money is once more available, also the extra $200,000 appropriated in the State supplementary budget, it will be possible to pay all farmers promptly for their losses as the result of the test.

Mr. Richardson has 23 veterinarians at work, 20 being State men and three Federal. Through the month of July they will try to meet as far as possible the great number of applications which have piled up during the period of little testing in May and June, also the many new applications which keep coming in. It is estimated that these men will be able to test nearly 10,000 cattle during the month. About one-third of them will be retests on herds which have previously been tested, but it is believed that at least 6,000 cattle will have been given their first test before the month is over.

There are at the present time applications for more than 5,000 cattle to be tested on file at the office of the Division of Animal Industry.

In view of the fact that there are a number of health departments which have adopted regulations requiring tuberculin testing of all cattle and others that have regulations for testing of all except those whose milk is to be pasteurized, the farmers who are selling in these cities will be given preference in the order in which the tests will be applied. These farmers are in danger of losing their income if their applications for a test are not met promptly. It will not mean such a definite loss to other farmers if they wait until later in the summer or early fall.

"Save-A-Life" Campaign to Reduce Auto Accidents

Executive deliberations were broadcast from the Governor's Council Chamber for the first time in the history of Massachusetts when the Governors of the six New England States assembled in Boston to officially launch the "Save-A-Life" campaign to reduce automobile accidents. In joint session before a battery of microphones the six Governors and their motor vehicle administrators discussed the mutual features of their problem and drew up a proclamation calling for the co-operation of each State.

The drive, which will begin today (Friday) and last through the entire month, will unite the entire region in the largest mass movement ever conducted in this country to combat the increasing motor toll. Although to be conducted simultaneously in the six States, the campaign will be administered separately in each State and the program of each will be made public at this time. Massachusetts has already announced a period of compulsory inspection of equipment on all cars and of intensive educational work.

The broadcast will be made by stations WBZ and WBZA and will begin at 11:30 a. m. The session will be called to order by John H. Griffin, president of the Eastern Motor Vehicle Commissioners and Commissioner in New Hampshire, who will outline what is expected of the motorists during the drive. The next item on the state is a description by Registrar George A. Parker of the highway accident situation in Massachusetts and announcement of further details of the compulsory inspection which will shortly engage the attention of all motorists of this State.

Howard Cooney, chairman of the Governor's committee on street and highway safety, will then call on Governor Allen to present his call for co-operation from all officials and citizens of Massachusetts. Subsequently each of the other Governors will submit a brief resume of highway safety conditions in his State and the chief problems to be immediately countered followed a plea similar to that made by Governor Allen. The assembled executives will then sign a public proclamation, adding the final touch of authority to the campaign, with strokes of the pen which will possibly be made audible over the radio.

The Governors and motor vehicle administrators will be guests of Governor Allen's committee on street and highway safety at an informal luncheon at the Algonquin Club. At this affair the officials will exchange ideas on administration of the campaign and smooth out remaining details.

THE INDIVIDUAL YET NEEDED BY BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

SOME seem to think that the day of the individual in business has passed. But they are wrong. While the individual may not attract such outstanding attention as he did in the days of old when institutions were conducted on a smaller scale, he nevertheless is to be found in any large corporation, dominating the situation, giving orders here, co-operating there and shouldering the responsibility of keeping a large group of lieutenants, captains and privates working in unison and moving forward under the banner of progress. And all of these are held accountable to the public because the public has entered into a partnership agreement with the corporation through purchase of stock.

John G. Lonsdale

Even in the gigantic mergers that have taken place within the last two years there remains more than ever the necessity for a leader, an aggressive personality, whose duty it is to see that basic principles are not forgotten, that the rights and privileges of the individual workers and the customers they serve are as well provided for as in the smaller business units.

It is gratifying to note that our corporations are giving more and more concern to the welfare of their workers. Numerous benefit organizations have been formed, opportunities offered for advancement of education and position, hospital service established and insurance and retirement pensions provided.

This general humanitarian movement in reality is the outgrowth of analysis, which has disclosed the need of improving the well-being of our individual workers, realizing at the same time that our institutions will benefit.

PREPAREDNESS IN BUSINESS

By R. S. HECHT,

American Bankers Association.

My observations for many years, both as an employee and as an executive, have convinced me that the reason some men and women go ahead and others do not is that some keep themselves constantly prepared to accept and fulfill larger duties and responsibilities as they offer, and some do not.

Grant, as we must, that there is a certain element of luck in the conditions under which opportunity for promotion comes to different men and women, we nevertheless must also see that it is each individual's own state of preparedness which determines his ability to seize opportunity if and when it comes, and having seized it, to succeed in meeting the greater demands which it inevitably places upon him.

Real advancement never means going ahead to easier tasks, but always to harder ones. Opportunity for advancement is worthless unless in accepting it you are able to carry with you the abilities and qualifications that prepare you to meet the heavier exactions that are an inherent part of opportunity.

It is far better to go into action in the field of enlarged responsibility prepared and qualified, rather than that you and the institution you work for shall be exposed to the hazard of your having to build up to new responsibilities after having assumed them.

The new spirit of all business seeks to prepare its people in advance through education for the higher duties it holds in store for them.

Bank Bandits Active

The greatest number of bandit raids on American banking ever recorded in the figures of the protective department of the American Bankers Association were reported during the six months ending last February. Bank members of the association reported for investigation 311 forgery cases, 107 holdup robberies, 16 burglaries, 2 sneak thefts and 8 mortgage swindles while non-member banks, numbering less than half the total enrolled in the association, suffered 86 holdup robberies and 9 burglaries, non-members being burglarized or held up once for every 89 banks, as compared with once for every 164 member banks. The association detective agents caused the arrest of 143 of the 236 bank criminals apprehended during the period covered.

The association's report on these conditions urges support of the movement to provide city police departments with radio-equipped cruising automobiles which have proved particularly effective in Cleveland and Detroit in the broadcasting of alarms and the closing in on criminals immediately after or even in the midst of the perpetration of crimes. Last year the average time elapsed between the receipt of radio calls by these cars and the 1325 arrests which followed as one minute and forty-two seconds, the report says.

Money in Banks

Years ago the Government did not trust its money in banks. Postmasters used to remit by sending money in registered letters. The activities of the Federal Government began to grow at the beginning of the last century through an expanding commerce and spread of population westward, and the Federal Government felt the need of having sub-agencies where vouchers drawn upon the United States Treasury could be paid. In the first instance the Treasury was a Government bank and made all transactions direct.

Experience dictated that orderly and economical transactions of the Government fiscal affairs required the maintenance of deposits of Government funds at banks at all points where the receipts of disbursements of the Government were sufficiently large to justify such action. Accordingly deposits of Government funds are maintained with Federal Reserve banks and their branches, special depositaries, foreign depositaries, national bank depositaries and depositaries in the insular possessions of the United States. There are nearly 900 depositaries and they hold approximately a quarter of a billion dollars.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated. Finally the way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankshafts reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

Start Every Day Right By Awakening Appetite

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company.

OCCASIONALLY we hear someone say, "My breakfast the year around is always the same." Certainly this does not sound very appetizing; and most of us would dread breakfast-time if we knew we must eat exactly the same sort of meal day after day. Of course we all know how easy it is to drift into the habit of serving familiar dishes over and over again when we are busy and do not plan our meals ahead of time. And since only certain foods seem suited for breakfast, we sometimes feel it is even harder to vary the menu for that meal than for any other.

However, there are many delicious fruits, cereals, hot dishes and breads that can be used to help make this important first meal of the day much more interesting. During the spring and summer there is a wide variety of fresh fruit that will be very welcome for breakfast, and the following menus will help provide a number of nourishing, well-balanced meals to start the day right.

Surprise Muffins:—4 tablespoons butter, ¼ to ½ cup pure

Apple Butter, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup milk, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, and 3 teaspoons baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar, then egg, and beat well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add to first mixture, alternating with milk. Put spoonfuls of batter in a greased muffin pan. On each place a teaspoon of Apple Butter, and cover with a spoonful of batter. Bake in oven 400 degrees F. for 20–25 minutes. This makes 10 large muffins.

Rice Flake Waffles:—Use 1¼ cups flour, 2/3 cup Rice Flakes, 1¼ cups milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon melted butter, and 1 egg. Mix and sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolk thoroughly, add milk, then add to dry ingredients, and beat thoroughly. Add melted butter and fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Add Rice Flakes, and bake in a hot waffle iron.

Breakfast Betty:—Heat Rice Flakes in the oven. Have ready hot applesauce, mashed prunes or apricots, or any other thick fruit sauce. Place a layer of Rice Flakes in a serving dish, then a layer of cooked fruit until there are three layers of Rice Flakes and two of fruit. Serve warm with cream or fruit juice.

Spanish Omelet:—Fry 1 chopped green pepper and 1 tablespoon chopped onion for five minutes. Add 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, ¼ cup chopped olives, 2 tablespoons Chili Sauce, and 4 beaten eggs seasoned with salt and pepper. Cook until eggs are done, stirring occasionally.

Creole Beef on Toasted Muffins:—¼ lb. sliced dried beef, 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour and ¼ cup Chili Sauce. Saute beef in 1 tablespoon butter. Melt two tablespoons butter, stir in flour. Add milk gradually and stir constantly until thickened. Then add dried beef and Chili Sauce. Serve on toast points or toasted muffins. This serves six.

Fluffy Omelet and Rice Flakes:—For six people use 6 eggs, 5 tablespoons hot water, 2 cups Rice Flakes, and 1 teaspoon salt. Add hot water to the beaten egg yolks, then salt. Fold this mixture into the stiffly beaten egg whites, and then, add the Rice Flakes. Turn into a frying pan, and cook over a slow fire until light brown underneath, and then place in an oven until top is dry. Fold over and serve at once.

Road Hogging

THE dangerous, unexplainably selfish and unsportsmanlike practice of road hogging undoubtedly is responsible for more traffic accidents on American highways than any other single factor entering into the scheme of motoring conditions.

That the road hog should be smitten with a vengeance similar to that exercised in stamping out any other common or garden variety of pest, is a foregone conclusion. Any motorist will agree with that.

Highway facilities in the United States are inadequate despite the rapid progress demanded by the requirements of the twenty-six million motorists who are trying to use them in the interest of furthering their individual needs. They would not be nearly so inadequate if the road hog could be abolished and if highways could be used as a means of accommodating an expeditious movement of traffic instead of the hodge-podge that exists today.

A number of progressive cities have declared war on the road hog. Chicago is a notable example. In that city, the person who attempts to drive slowly on a high speed boulevard is treated with the same degree of intolerance as the driver who attempts to break speed records where slow and careful driving is necessary.

Michigan has discarded the old fashioned method of regulating speed and has established in its place a law which permits the individual motorist to govern his speed in accordance with the width of the road, traffic conditions and sane driving policy. This law was enacted on the theory that thirty or forty miles an hour may be perfectly safe under certain conditions while, under other conditions, fifteen or twenty miles an hour may be dangerous.

The motorist who causes an accident in Michigan through carelessness or recklessness, loses his license and is otherwise dealt with severely.

I would rather be sick than idle.—Seneca.
Great spenders are bad lenders.—Franklin.

Drudgery is as necessary to call out the treasures of the mind as harrowing and planting, those of the earth.—Margaret Fuller.

First Hunter: "And how can you detect an elephant?"

Second: "You smell a faint odor of peanuts on its breath."

An Irishman lay dying when the odor of cooning assailed his nostrils. Summoning his weeping daughter to his bedside he said, "Nora, darlint, ain't it doughnuts that I smell?"

"Right for ye, father," the girl replied.

"And would ye be askin' your mother if I can have one before I die?"

The daughter delivered the message to mother in the kitchen and brought back this answer: "Mother says you can not have one of them doughnuts, they're for the wake."

Summer Care of Heating Plant Explained by Smoke Official

Chicago.—A thorough "going over" of the home heating plant in preparation for the next heating season and the use of a smokeless fuel, are urged by Frank A. Chambers, chief city smoke inspector, in his instructions issued to householders for the care of their home heating plants during the warm months.

Smoke, Mr. Chambers pointed out, is a serious health hazard. He said neglect of heating plants helps to produce more smoke. His instructions for the care of heating plants in the summer are:

"See that the ash pit, grates, tubes and all gas passages are clean. Clean thoroughly the smoke pipe connecting the heating plant and chimney. Clean out the chimney. This will improve the draft as well as prevent smoke from backing out of the heating plant into the basement, which usually causes the living rooms above to fill with smoke.

Points Out Fire Hazard.

"The smoke pipe or breeching should be examined thoroughly for leaks, and if rusted badly or leaking should be repaired or a new one installed. Defective flues often cause fires where the plaster above falls off, exposing woodwork to the flame coming through cracks in the pipe or masonry.

"Examine the grates and see if any sections are burned out. Burned out grates cause holes in the fire, resulting in a loss of heat and a fuel waste. See that grates shake properly and return to a level position. Adjust damper so that it opens full and closes properly. Fill all cracks with fireproof cement or stove putty. Air leakage causes the fire to draw poorly and increases the fuel consumption. See that all out doors on the chimney, in boiler or furnace, close air tight.

For Care of Heating Plant.

"If the basement or boiler room is damp during the summer cover the outside surfaces with a coat of preservative paint or a mineral oil that will prevent rusting."

Tests have shown, according to the Holland Institute of Thermology, Holland, Mich., that a quarter inch of soot, a nonconductor of heat, on the heating surface, requires 50 per cent more coal than is necessary if the boiler surfaces are clean.

The most efficient means yet found for cleaning the heating plant and chimney is a huge vacuum cleaner which comes mounted on an auto truck and in which a motor driven fan provides powerful suction. This machine, operated on the same principle as the household vacuum cleaner, sucks the dirt and soot out of the most remote and inaccessible parts of both heating plant and chimney, drawing the soot and dust into an enormous dustproof bag. No dust is raised in the house and there is no aftermath of grimy dirt in the basement or on the walks or lawns. The additional advantage is that it usually includes a thorough inspection service which reveals existing defects in chimney and heating plant itself, and enables repairs to be made during the summer months.

It won't be long now

Only a few years ago almost everyone was wiring his home for electric lights. Today the same transition is going on in the kitchen.

Out with the old—on with the new. It's the era of electric cookery, and it won't be long now before all the old obsolete cook stoves will be relegated to the past along with the kerosene oil lamps and the horse and buggy. The old-fashioned way of cooking is now being superseded by the automatic electric range.

Thousands upon thousands of homes throughout the length and breadth of the land enjoy the advantages of cool, quick, clean, easy cooking. The automatic electric range itself—starting, self-stopping, self-cooking and self-sufficient.

Fruit Soups Are Refreshing

By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef
The Plaza Hotel, New York City

IN the eyes of thousands who have been brought up in the sound old traditions of American cooking, a dinner without soup is no dinner at all. Summer and winter, whether the mercury hovers in the eighties or the twenties, they demand their soup and refuse to be satisfied without it. They are rapidly learning to demand a cold soup in summer and a hot soup in winter, but one and all demand their soup.

Jellied bouillions and consommés are, of course, the familiar types of cold soups, but there is no reason why we should be restricted to these. In Norway, Germany and many other countries of Europe, cold fruit soups are widely enjoyed for their delicacy of flavor and refreshing qualities. There seems to be no good reason why we in this country should not seize the opportunity to add variety to this part of our menu.

Iced Fruit Soup—Mix and let stand in the refrigerator overnight one cup orange juice, three-fourths cup grapefruit juice, five cloves and a two-inch strip of cinnamon. Bring to the boiling point one cup of the syrup drained from a can of raspberries. Add a teaspoon of cornstarch mixed with cold water. Cook three minutes and add one-fourth cup sugar and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Add fruit juices, strain and place in refrigerator until very cold. Serve with shaved ice.

Grape Soup—Add one-half cup sugar to a half-pint of water and simmer until clear. Add one pint of juice pressed from ripe grapes, and the juice of one-half lemon. Add a half tablespoon of softened tapioca and again simmer until clear. Keep in refrigerator until very cold and serve with shaved ice.

Raspberry Soup—Let stand for one hour, one quart of mashed raspberries thoroughly mixed with one-half pound of sugar. Press through sieve. Heat slowly, stirring all the time. When boiling point is reached add one tablespoon cornstarch dissolved in cold water. When clear and smooth, add one-fourth cup non-alcoholic sherry. Remove and keep in refrigerator until well chilled. Serve with shaved ice.

Fishin' Time

HOLIDAY time is the kids' time especially when the old fishin' hole has a couple of big ones in hiding. If you don't believe it take a look at the smile on the face of this youngster as he shows the trophy he yanked out of the waters in Algonquin Park, Northern Ontario, where the real fish grow.—Photograph Canadian National Railways.

Noted Astrologer Defends
Husbands

Evangeline Adams, noted astrologer, who during her career, has had for clients J. P. Morgan, William Pennings Bryan, James J. Hill and many other famous men, comes out in defense of husbands in an article in Woman's Home Companion.

"I have found that husbands usually are responsible for the big bad things in married life and wives are responsible for the little bad things," says Miss Adams. However, she continues this does not indicate that men are more responsible for marital unhappiness than women. Little things occur every day, whereas big things may happen only once in a lifetime. The big things are the only ones seen by the public when they are dragged into the divorce courts and the newspapers. No one knows how often the "big" things men do are the outgrowth of "little" things done or not done by wives.

Miss Adams declares that many husbands have told her that the chief thing that keeps them faithful is the confidence wives show in marital integrity. They feel that a man cannot bear to deceive a woman who trusts them. Other husbands, she says, have told her that they have been driven to being untrue simply because their wives continually accused them of unfaithfulness. "Some husbands," she adds, "may have been lost by too much freedom, but more have been lost by too much suspicion."

The astrologer says that the happiest marriages she has seen are those in which wives encourage their husbands to have legitimate interests apart from them. Thus they keep from being bored. Two-job and two-income marriages, she has observed, usually are the happiest.

While some object to squeaky brakes on a car, in many instances they are superior to a horn. Horns very often fail to get even casual attention, but a screeching brake carries with it a note that is seldom unheeded.
